Validity and Recommendation

The objective of this Profile Evaluation is to assist an individual in better understanding his/her mental aptitudes and personality dimensions so as to lead a more effective and fulfilled life. By gaining more knowledge about these key traits, one may be better able to communicate with family, friends, and co-workers. This information may also build more satisfying and results-oriented relationships in both personal and business/professional environments.

Validity Scale Number 1
Frankness

Validity Scale Number 2
Equivocation

The validity scores of Sam Sample's Profile Evaluation reflect his attitude toward test taking. The first score is distortion, which was designed to measure Sam's frankness in reporting information about himself. The second score is equivocation, which measures the extent of his acceptance of the test taking task of choosing extremes, which are in most instances polar opposites. Too many 'in between' or 'neutral' responses would impair the statistical accuracy of Sam's report. If either validity scale falls below 80%, the accuracy of the results would be reduced and this report would be considered invalid.

NOTE:

When properly implemented and utilized in conjunction with other hiring and interviewing tools, this profile will strengthen the employer's position to ensure that applicants and employees are treated fairly without regard to race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Achievement Tec., Inc. will defend the validation of the profile evaluation Program system™ booklet's contents.

This report is confidential. It is an opinion based on test results and other available data. The accuracy of the scoring input for these test results are the responsibility of the client. Leadership Management®, Inc. accepts no responsibility when given incorrect information.

Personal Combinations

In most profile evaluation results there exists a series of combinations derived from the relationship between seemingly unrelated traits of our personality and mental attitudes. Often these combinations provide a more accurate indication of the individual than just the scores by themselves. In fact, strengths in some dimensions may compensate for weaknesses in others. Of course the opposite may also be true, which means that a negative combination may offset a positive trait to some
